

"In Our Search for the Golden Harvest We Must Not Overlook the Higher Things if Life."—Gov. Percival P. Baxter.

Home Town News

A Happy New Year to each and every one of our readers of the Advertiser, may the Cup of Happiness in every home be brim full, so there shall be plenty to spare for every heart which may be in need.

For any lonely heart which may be a little outside the pale of merrymaking on this Day of Days. We are not able to give largely of things which represent an excessive money value, but we can give happiness, and happiness is the true Christmas Gift. The one who receives it feels the loving, kindly, happy deeds and is at once put in tune with the general rejoicing. That is the sort of Gift worth having.

The boys also appreciated the assistance rendered by citizens in saving the hose.

Obituary

Roscoe C. Hill

After a brief illness terminating in pneumonia, Roscoe C. Hill passed away at his home, Friday night, Dec. 19. He was born in Norway Oct. 2, 1881, a son of A. Kinsman and Hannah Gammon Hill and has always lived on the homestead farm near the Otisfield line. He married Lillian Thurston, Otisfield, and four children were born to them, Henry, Fred, Francis and Ida, the eldest daughter is attending Norway High School.

The deceased was a member of Norway Lodge, No. 16, I. O. O. F., and Fredrick Robie Grange of Otisfield. Besides his wife and children he leaves one sister, Mrs. Ida Hill Douglas, of Bethel and one brother, Daniel Hill of West Paris.

The funeral was held at his late home, Monday afternoon, Rev. C. G. Miller officiating. A large delegation from the Lodges attended and the bearers were Edmund Everett, Theodore Frost, from the Old Fellows and Edward Anderson and Sanford Annis from Fredrick Robie Grange. There were many beautiful flowers as tokens of esteem from sorrowing friends. Burial was in Norway Pine Grove cemetery.

Spend your dollars at home, so they can have a chance to come back to you.

National Bank's New Home

The Norway National Bank has bought the Robert Noyes lot and building on the corner of Main and Cottage Streets. While the papers have not passed, an agreement has been reached and this desirable location will become the site of the future home of the bank. This is the plan. The bank has outgrown its present location. The directors are to be congratulated on getting so good a location at a reasonably low cost. It has a frontage of some 77 feet on Main Street and extends on Cottage Street to the home of Fred Rowe.

The Twin-Towns Bakery and Miss Libby's Studio are on the land they have purchased. When the work of building will commence has not as yet been settled.

Patronize Norway Branch Railroad. In the past eleven months a little over $110,000 worth of freight business has been done at the Norway Branch depot. This is for "out" and "in" freight. It is about $3,500.00 in excess of the same months the previous year.

The passenger business during the term has decreased a thousand dollars over the year before.

These figures are the result of an examination which is feared may lead to the cancelling of passenger service over the Branch Road.

If those traveling on the main line from this vicinity would buy their tickets at the Norway station the figures of the passenger service would look different and a better showing would be made.

Why not do so? These people going to south or west for the winter can get the reservations and routing as they may select at the Norway Branch Depot as well as to patronize Portland and Boston and this would add much to the size of business of the station.

This should certainly be done. Why not? It costs no more and helps a much needed local service which we are on the way to lose.

Remember Always Safety First. Don't leave a small child in a sleigh with the horse hitched to the sleigh. It is not safe for the child nor fair to the passerby.

Ben Hosmer called our attention to such a lapse of "Safety First" last Tuesday. Hosmer went to the horse and stood while we looked on. After a while Ben Hosmer returned to the team and seemed not the least bit disturbed when told he ought not to do such a thing.

It was worse than the mother who leaves her baby in the wheel carriage on the sidewalk while she is trading in the store. Don't do it.

Mrs. Hattie Blake, aged 80 years, who made her home with Mrs. Sadie McAllister and was removed from the Hathaway block during the fire, is suffering from nervous shock. She was carried from the burning building to the Norway Buick Co. salesrooms and later removed to a temporary home.

A procession of twenty-six horses (bound for Striggs' stables, formerly the O. M. Cummings' place, was an unusual sight, Thursday evening. They arrived from the west on the afternoon train.

Is there a D. W. Hills in business in this town or Paris? Let this office know. Mr. and Mrs. Harry Dudley of South Paris were in town, Tuesday, with a wagon load of Christmas wreaths. They sold a large number.

The card party under the auspices of the American Legion Auxiliary will be held at the Grange hall Thursday, January 8, and not at Archie Parrin's as previously announced. Chairmen of the tables have been appointed and a delightful evening is anticipated.

Everybody in town and otherwise at the postoffice the first two days of this week.

Garfield Walker: "I saw a rabbit the other day in the Witt swamp that was as large as a small sized cow. It was a large animal and actually bit at and stood its ground and I didn't dare shoot."

Gov. Baxter: "Those who come to our State must be made to understand that our laws are to be obeyed and that proper respect must be shown our institutions. If these people come in the right spirit they are welcome, if not the right spirit is better off without them. In our search for the golden harvest we must not overlook the higher things of life."

Geo. H. Bennett has contracted a severe cold and is on the sick list. Mrs. Elizabeth Hatch is visiting her daughter, Mrs. Leon Emery, and family.

Church Notes

Congregational

New Year's Sunday will be observed Dec. 28 with special sermon and music. The intensely cold weather kept so many home last Sunday evening that the service will be repeated next Sunday evening at 7 o'clock. A fine program by the chorus was rendered and the pastor read a touching Christmas story. Solos by Mrs. Harold Anderson and Mrs. Oliver J. Frost together with a duet by Mrs. Anderson and Mrs. Tracy were exceptionally good. The decorations were tastefully arranged by Miss Rose Hamlin and added much to the Christmas cheer.

On Wednesday evening, Dec. 24, the children of the beginners' Primary and Junior Departments held their annual festival in the vestry. Supper at 6.30 will be followed with pantomimes, speaking and chorus singing.

Meetings of the Wednesday Evening Club will be omitted this week and next as the gymnasium is closed during school vacation.

The Church Calendars, containing four pages, issued Sunday, included the order of exercises for morning and evening, announcements of coming events and numerous items of interest. It was distinctively a Christmas offering and nicely arranged.

Two young ladies were received into membership Sunday morning. The sabbath cold and sickness kept several home who intended to unite with the church at that time.

Universalist. Christmas was observed in all the services last Sunday. Rev. C. G. Miller delivered a sermon appropriate to the day and the choir rendered Christmas music. The Sunday School had a Christmas service.

V. C. U. had the Candle Light Service, Sunday evening, Houghton Kimball, leader.

The Christmas tree and supper will be held Dec. 25 at 6 o'clock. Parents not otherwise solicited will carry pastry. An entertainment will follow.

Baptist. The Christmas Day celebration in connection with the Sunday School will be held in the evening at 6 and not at 4 o'clock as previously announced. There will be a "White Gift" service followed by a Christmas tree. The music will be chiefly by the choir. It was especially good and much enjoyed last Sunday.

There will be no C. E. this week but Prayer Circles as usual Saturday night. Next Sunday the pastor will preach at the morning service a sermon suitable to the closing of the year entitled "Thinking Back" from the text, "Thou shalt remember all the way which the Lord thy God hath led thee," and at the evening meeting another suitable to the coming New Year entitled "Following Jesus" from the text, "He goeth before." Come and hear.

On the verge of the close of the year on Wednesday, the 31st, at 7.30 there will be held a cottage meeting at the home of Morris Marr, Alpine Street. Close the year with thoughts of God and His Grace.

Episcopal. Christmas Eve services will be held Wednesday evening, Dec. 24, from 11 to 12 midnight, conducted by J. Henderson Carson, lay reader. Special Christmas carols will be sung. All denominations are urged to join in this service and make it indeed a Merry Christmas.

The Ladies' Guild will meet with Mrs. Millard Lyseth, Thursday, Jan. 1. Rev. E. S. Middleton, D. D., of Portland will conduct services, Sunday, at 10.45 A. M. and 7.30 P. M.

Methodist. At the morning service there will be special music. There will be solos by Miss Maud Ellen Pike of Ferrum, Virginia, teacher in the Ferrum Training School.

Club Notes. The Browning Reading Club will meet, Monday evening, Dec. 29, with Miss Elsie A. Fawcett, Roll call, Events in History, reading, "My Garden of Memory," Kate Douglas Wiggin, by Mrs. Edith Bartlett. Five minute recreation.

Veranda Club. The Veranda Club met Tuesday evening, Dec. 23, with Mrs. Nellie Merrill, regular order of business. The club members appreciate Mrs. Weyland Robbins' kindness in doing the sewing for the Christmas gifts. After the meeting the guests were invited to the dining room where a nice lunch was enjoyed. Next meeting is with Mrs. Virginia Murdock, Thursday evening, Jan. 8.

Mrs. Thelma Smith underwent an operation at the C. M. G. Hospital, Dec. 23. All members should remember her with post cards.

Orin L. Stone, who is attending St. Lawrence University at Canton, N. Y., is visiting his parents, Mr. and Mrs. O. L. Stone, over the holidays.

Elbridge Gammon, one of Norway's oldest residents, celebrated his 80th birthday the past week, and was made happy with a family gathering at dinner. Their daughter, Mrs. Leon Newcomb, and family spent the day with them at their home, "In the Pines," on the Harrison Road.

Will Newcomb received word, Friday, of the death of his cousin's wife, Mrs. Delmore Robinson, in Whitefield, N. H. They were former residents of Bridgton and some twenty years ago lived in Norway where he was employed. He was a member of the old Norway orchestra and is well remembered in that capacity.

HAVE BEEN MARRIED 50 YEARS

Quietly Observe Their Golden Wedding Anniversary

Mr. and Mrs. Edwin A. Brooks of 51 Willow street, Dedham, observed, Nov. 18, in a simple way their fiftieth wedding anniversary. Mr. Brooks was born in Dedham in 1844, and Mrs. Brooks, who was Miss Frances E. Deering, is from South Paris, Me. They have lived all of their married life in their present home. Mr. Brooks was for many years cashier of the Dedham National Bank, up to July last, when he relinquished his more active duties in that office to others, but he still retains his old-time interest in the bank, as its vice president and member of the board of directors. He has been connected with that institution for fifty-five years.

He was for eighteen years treasurer of the town and was many years ago master of Constellation Lodge of Masons and is its oldest member. He has been given the distinction of honor of receiving the Price Medal in Masonry.

Mrs. Brooks has been active in the benevolent and other work of the First Parish Church in Dedham, where Mr. Brooks formerly was a member of the choir. Although he is eighty years of age, Mr. Brooks still plays golf as frequently as possible.

The two sons of Mr. and Mrs. Brooks, Edwin D. Brooks and Arthur B. Brooks, and their wives, all residents of Concord, planned the golden anniversary celebration in the form of an informal afternoon reception to neighbors and some of the more intimate friends of the family, to afford opportunity to congratulate Mr. and Mrs. Brooks. In addition to their two sons, they have four grandchildren.

High School Boilers Flooded. Some time Friday night the South Paris High School building was broken into, through the boiler room at the rear of the building. The marauders turned on the hose and flooded the boiler room with several inches of water. They also opened the water feed to the boilers, as a consequence of which the entire heating system filled with water at eighty-five pounds pressure, and the water was forced out of some of the joints in the plumbing and soaked down through, doing damage to the building. Some of the jackets on the boilers will also have to be renewed.

Some furniture was disturbed and papers and books scattered promiscuously in other parts of the building and some of the rooms were defaced with chalk. The object of the marauders was evidently mischief and not plunder, as nothing was taken.

The selectmen have offered a reward of fifty dollars for the arrest and conviction of the guilty parties.

High School Fair. Nearly $250 was cleared from the South Paris High School fair under the auspices of the Athletic Association, held in Association hall, Friday afternoon and evening.

Each of the four classes had a booth tastefully decorated. Class of 1925 booth proved up-to-the-minute with a crossword puzzle arrangement, and featured fancy articles.

A large variety of candy was sold at the booth where the class of 1926 presided. Canned goods and vegetables were in charge of the 1927 class and business proved good.

Sing Ling's Laundry was run by the class of 1928 and included the "grab" game which enticed many dimes into the treasury.

A nicely decorated booth carried on by the Opechee Campfire Girls displayed a large stock of home cooked food.

In the evening a large audience gathered for the three act comedy drama, "When a Fellow Needs a Friend," Cast was as follows:

Tom Denker.....Wilbur Miller
Bob Mills.....Robert Miller
Mrs. Reese.....Geraldine Stewart
Jerry Smith.....Warren Stearns
Liz.....Laney Lundell
Bing Dickson.....Henry Sweet
William Denker.....Donald Wing
Alice King.....Louise Adams
Elsie Lynn.....Pauline Hayden
Angela Scott.....Bernie Parsons

The play was presented under the efficient coaching of Mrs. Mae Stevens. Mrs. Helen Barnes Shaw directed the high school orchestra which played between the acts. There was also singing by the male chorus.

Read-Read. Frank W. Reed and Mae Reed, both of South Paris, were married at two o'clock Tuesday afternoon at the parsonage of the First Parish Congregational Church at Augusta by the Rev. A. T. McWhorter, who was formerly their pastor at South Paris.

The service was a double ring ceremony. The couple were unattended. Mr. Reed is a traveling salesman. The bride who attended Bates College, formerly was a teacher in South Paris High School. Mr. and Mrs. Reed will make their home in South Paris.

Harold T. Briggs of Mechanic Falls and Donald S. Briggs of Wilton have been guests of Mrs. Louise J. Briggs. Miss Glenna Starbird is home from Nason Institute for the vacation.

Town schools now closed for the holidays will open again on January 6. Harold Neal is in a hospital in Portland recovering from an operation for appendicitis.

Friday afternoon a short program of recitations, songs and games was enjoyed around the tree.

"Our Tree." Later it will be used in the yard as the birds' Xmas tree, housing our feathered friends will choose this as their favorite feeding station.

The most pleasing part of the program was a visit from Dear Old Santa himself with a basket of Big Red Apples. These were the gift of the children's good friend, Fred Dunn, of North Norway, who again generously remembered the little folks.

Nate Noble is the only man in town who defies custom and seldom wears a hat. This stunt was established several years ago and his home may be called heat and frost proof. On rare occasions when the mercury kicks a hole in the bulb, he breaks, training and dons a cap then returns to civilization for a short spell. It means good health without the worry of changing styles in hat pieces.

Addison Holt, who now lives in this town, put land-locked salmon in Lower Stone Pond, in Stoneham, 26 years ago. For the past twenty years many salmon have been taken from that water.

ABOUT ADVERTISING

And The Aim of Newspapers
Do you recall what Wanamaker did over fifty years ago? The first day he opened his store he sold $24.67 worth of merchandise. Of that first day's receipts he spent $24 for advertising and kept the 76c for change. When Mr. Wanamaker passed on a few years ago he left a twenty-five million dollar estate.

When Col. Chas. H. Taylor, one of the biggest newspaper men in his time and builder of the present Boston Globe, passed away a few years ago practically every store in the city of Boston closed its door the day of the funeral in honor of Col. Taylor because his work as an advertising man proved so much wonder.

The aim of the modern newspaper man is to have his paper cheerful and attractive and useful; to enter the homes of the people of his community as a kindly, helpful friend of man rather than upon his faults and limitations; to build up rather than to join in tearing down; to help men, women and children to get some of the sunshine of life; to be a little better and happier because of that newspaper.

Newspaper advertising is without doubt the greatest selling force which the best modern business and commercial efficiency have at their command. But only a very small part of our business men have yet learned how to use it effectively, although thousands who do not know "how" have grown enormous through its uses. Newspaper advertising even today is like an untouched mine of wealth lying just without the door, ready to do wonders for any business enterprise. Intelligently used, newspaper advertising can be readily made to produce vastly increased traffic or to influence public opinion.

REDICULOUS TO ABSURDITY

The Child Labor Amendment, which has been proposed to the constitution of the United States, is not as yet passed by many states, for the reason that we cannot believe that many of the state legislatures, will seriously consider its adoption.

The crux of the proposed amendment which provides that Congress shall have power to limit, regulate and prohibit the labor of persons under eighteen years of age.

This means, if we can interpret the statutes, that Congress will take from the parent all responsibility as to the manner in which the son or daughter, under eighteen years of age shall be employed.

Young people are "grown up" these days at ten and twelve and a constitutional provision such as is this proposed, is so absurd that it smacks of the ridiculous.—Bridgton News.

"WHAT IS A POTATO BALL?"

Someone in East Bethany, N. Y. makes the inquiry.

Answer: It is the seed package of the tuber and grows on the potato-top or vine. The dictionary refers to "potato apple; the berry of the potato or huckleberry; it is of a yellowish color."

This is true when the seed package is ripe. By planting the seeds you can raise potatoes of innumerable variety of quality. To get a sizeable potato from this seed takes from 3 to 5 years.

The potatoes of the present time seldom bear packages or balls. They bloom but fail to produce the seed as the potatoes did 50 years ago.

A Norway man said today: "We'll grant that women are the equal of men but is that very much of anything to be proud of?"

HOW TO KEEP A CHURCH ALIVE

1.—Be sure to come.

2.—Be on time.

3.—When at church, act as if you were glad to be there.

4.—At the service, ask yourself what can I do or say to help another?

5.—Be ready to help wherever there is need. Much better than looking on and saying you could do better.

6.—Attend your own church service when possible; let the pastor know he may depend on you.

7.—Be ready to lift your share of the burden. The pastor earns his money.

8.—Don't choose the back seat and when singing, sing as unto the Lord.

9.—Regular pay day much the better and don't expect much for a nickel as the little boy told his mother, who was criticizing the sermon after putting a nickel in the basket.

10.—A word of praise, now and then, is appreciated by the preacher men.

11.—If your pastor makes a mistake, don't shout it from the housetop.

12.—Find some good thing in your pastor, then invite others to share it.

13.—Praise God from whom all blessings flow—if there is no friction in the church.

14.—If you have any thought the church is being run by the few, ask God to let you be one of the number. Then it won't be a few.

GAP IN PRICES

A Friend who has been away on an automobile tour notes that during his journey he was in a summer resort where he inquired of a boarding house keeper if they were able to get fresh fruits.

The landlady replied that there were great quantities of berries growing on wild tracts of land not far from her place, yet it was very difficult to get them picked. About the only way was for her and her servants to drive out to these lands and pick the berries themselves.

There did not seem to be any one else whom they could get to do it, as everyone seemed to be at work. The boys and girls who formerly used to go out to such tracts and pick berries, all seemed to be busy. Many of them had taken summer jobs where they were earning money to put themselves through colleges and schools.

This friend remarked that as he continued his trip, he passed through a city only about 60 miles from the place where these wild fruits were so plentiful. He noticed that the same kind of berries that were going to waste on those hills were placed on sale around 40 cents for a basket containing a quart or less.

It is noted nearly every fall that great quantities of fruits and vegetables are going to waste in the rural districts, while in the near-by cities their price continues high.

The gap between the producer and the consumer is a wide one, and it seems to be growing wider as time goes on.

High freight rates are a considerable item in producing this discrepancy. But the principal element is the wages that have to be paid to unskilled labor, and the inefficiency of a great deal of work that is done. The gap between producer and consumer cannot be bridged until a great many people who now work in a dawdling and inefficient way, shall be persuaded to take hold of their tasks with more life and spirit.

THE PLACE TO SHOP

There is one "best" place to shop and that is the place where you live.

Sometimes in a small village it may be impossible to get just what you want, but there is usually a village nearby where your wants can be met. It is not necessary to travel far away to fill your desires, nor is it necessary to send to some far off house miles and miles away.

Your merchants have paid their taxes, helped the schools and various local charities, and spent a good many thousands of dollars in many ways to have the goods you will need. They deserve your patronage.

Advertiser readers will find many of them listing their offerings in our columns. Look them over and see what the merchants of Norway are offering you and you will be surprised to find many an article—just what you were looking for and reasonably priced.

NOT WHAT, BUT HOW

Every once in a while these days one is reminded that in a little while Christmas will be here. Of course the merry season is still a week away but many children and grown-ups have already begun to make their plans.

To do the kind of thing that old Kris Kingle does takes a lot of planning if it is to be done well; in a manner of speaking you have to get ready for it. Not that this planning is ever hard work, even if you go at it with all your might and main, because as every boy and girl knows when you do anything to make anyone happy, it is never hard work, and the more patience and skill you have to employ in doing it, the more fun it is.

If you were to ask him face to face, Santa Clause would tell you that a lot of people miss half the fun of Christmas because they forget that it isn't what is given that counts, but how the thing is given. He would tell you that what a thing costs, or how much it shines, has nothing to do with it. What really counts is how much affection and kindness and well-wishing you put into it.

It's what you are, and not what the gift is, that counts.

That's why Christmas is such a wonderful season; and that is why most people who like Santa Clause and Christmas try to plan and get ready for this great day, so that they may have most of themselves to give when that day comes.

Santa Clause never yet waited till the last minute and then scurried around and wondered what he would do about this and about that. You can guess from the stories they tell about him, and from the way he looks, that he is the kind who does things when they ought to be done quite a while before the last minute. In these things it is well to follow Santa's example—Press Herald.

GOLDEN WEDDING

Former Mayor and Mrs. Lewis H. Lovering observe their golden wedding anniversary, Christmas night, at their home, 38 Boston Avenue, West Medford. Between the hours of seven and ten a large number of relatives, friends, associates in the banks and in business, from churches and from the numerous Medford organizations and boards to which either Mr. and Mrs. Lovering belong are expected.

Quantities of flowers have been showered upon them not alone from their own city, but from out of town. They will receive in the living room which will be turned into a fragrant bower with the bright blossoms and the Christmas decorations. Mr. and Mrs. Frank W. Lovering and their daughter, Miss Marjorie, will be in the receiving line, and the guests will be presented by a group of young men, sons of relatives.

The Hope Wright Trio will furnish music for the evening and dainty ices and refreshments to be served in the dining room.

Several group remembrances have been received, notably a beautiful piano lamp done in mahogany from relatives, and some fine floral tributes from the bank with which Mr. Lovering has so long been associated with. A great cluster of roses carried the love of the West Medford Baptist church for Mr. and Mrs. Lovering, and a finely engrossed set of resolutions.

Many of the relatives whose homes are in Maine were unable to attend the festive wedding anniversary on account of the holiday, but cards bearing timely greetings came in profusion, mingling congratulations with Yuletide greetings.

Mr. Lovering has lived in West Medford upwards of 55 years. Born on the edge of a mountain in the isolated country village of Greenwood, Maine, April 13, 1849, he learned to meet the rough places of life in the hard school of the farmer boy. His father, Prescott Lovering, was one of the sturdy pioneers, who hewed a farm out of the forests of the Pine Tree State, and his wife, made a backwoods home and reared a sturdy family of typical New Englanders. Ex-Mayor Lovering was one of two brothers, and also there were two sisters, one of whom passed away a few years ago, Francis H. Lovering, for years in the grocery business, and Mrs. F. A. Oxnard, the sister, lives on Mystic Street.

As a boy, Mr. Lovering was "given his time," was allowed to work outside the family, before he was 21, and he spent a year in the logging swamps at Berlin, N. H. Later he went to Massachusetts, and in Stoneham took up the carpenter's trade. After settling in West Medford he carried on a grocery and provision business for some years with his brother, under the name of Lovering Brothers. This was sold out to Francis H. Lovering in 1884 and the Greenwood boy went west to his sister's ranch at River Falls, Wis.

Massachusetts drew him back and he entered the business of a contracting builder, which he continues with his son, Frank W. Lovering, at the present time, more active than many a young man.

In the years of his effort as a builder, Mr. Lovering has erected hundreds of homes in Medford and adjoining communities, with a reputation for thoroughness and rugged honesty which has been greatly beneficial to the city of his adoption.

In West Medford, particularly, he has developed and built up large areas of land, particularly south of Boston Avenue, and in the vicinity of Hastings Heights. A staunch Republican in politics, he has served his town and city in all elective offices, from Town Commissioner, Fire Chief, Selectman and Mayor, which office he held with distinction for two terms from 1897 to 1899.

He is at present a member of the Board of Sinking Fund Commissioners; of the City Hall Commission; President of the Medford Co-operative Bank, and a director and member of the Investment Committee; Vice-President and Director of the Medford Trust Company, and a member of the Security Committee, having been one of the incorporators of the old Medford National Bank, out of which the Trust Company developed. He belongs to Sagamore Lodge, A. F. and A. M., of West Medford; Mt. Vernon Lodge, I. O. O. F., No. 186, the Medford Historical Society and is a director of the new Lawrence Memorial Hospital.

Mrs. Lovering was Emma P. Woods, who was born in Munroe, Maine. She taught in the schools there for some years, and since her residence in Medford has been connected with many of the religious and charitable organizations, notably the West Medford Baptist church, one of the Board of Managers of the Medford Home for Aged, and a member of the West Medford Woman's Club.

Mr. and Mrs. Lovering were married at Temple Street M. E. Church, Boston, Christmas Night, 1874. They made their first home in West Medford, in a house Mr. Lovering built, and numbered 115. Later they moved to No. 15, Bowers Street, and in 1898 to No. 38 Boston Avenue.

They have one son, Frank W. Lovering, who is associated in the contracting business with his father, and also is a Director in both the Trust Company and the Co-operative Bank, and a member of the Medford Planning Board. Mr. Lovering was married to Clara Isabel Parry, daughter of Joseph J. Parry, of 61 Dudley Street, Medford, in 1901, and they have two children.

HEALTH TEACHING

Health teaching must begin in the public schools, a speaker told the National Tuberculosis convention, but it has to be carried on in the home and parents have to be entirely in sympathy with the program before the schools can accomplish much, influential as they are.

Children's habits are formed at home before they become of school age. If they are not required by their parents to take baths as frequently as they should, to cleanse their teeth and take care of their body properly, no amount of teaching will accomplish that which is desired.

Once upon a time a school teacher sent the parents of a particularly unclean child a note asking that he be sent to school clean. The teacher received the following reply:

"Willie ain't no rose. Learn him, don't smell him."

Teachers can accomplish little in the modern health crusade in the public schools when parents take this attitude, but they all do not look at it that way.

THE SAFE HIGHWAY PROBLEM

The enormous death toll, and the greater accident list which mars the path of progress of the automobile is giving city fathers and country police authorities a great deal of concern. To meet the situation all sorts of remedies are being tried, the commonest of which is more drastic speed regulations, more police, and a more strict enforcement of the speed limit.

But in many cases it is found that all such additional "safeguards" do not accomplish the result; carelessness wrecks a car just as much when regulated by the police as when no police are about, and lack of skill causes as many accidents when licensed as when outlawed.

Authorities are beginning to believe that as far as the crowded streets of the cities are concerned, two drastic steps must be taken; the flow of traffic must be controlled either by a very elaborate system of one-way streets, distance control (as on Fifth Avenue, New York), or a boulevard system which eliminates the deadly crossing; the other step, a real examination and a real standard of proficiency to which a driver must attain before being permitted to drive.

The "driver's examination," in the few places where it exists, is well known to be more or less of a joke. A mere ability to get through a half mile of city traffic without a crash will give, in many places, any child of sixteen a motor driver's license. It is contended that until authorities are willing to make it a sine qua non to a driver's license that the applicant demonstrate, not luck in getting through, but genuine and competent skill in going through traffic easily and safely, the death toll is likely to continue.

Responsibility for Highway Accidents

Rests on Government

An appalling number of people are killed and injured every year on the highways of this country. Sporadic efforts are made in cities, and occasionally by States, to cure the evil by legislation and regulation of traffic, notably in speed ordinances and headlight laws, but without much effect. The reason is that speed and glaring headlights are not the primary cause of highway accidents.

Examination as to the causes of accidents shows that the principal factors are sharp curves, impaired vision due to fences, overhanging trees, embankments, etc., excessive grades, too narrow bridges, slippery road surfaces, dangerous detours, defective road surfaces weak bridges, and too narrow roads.

If the National or State government permitted a railroad to kill and maim its passengers because of too sharp curves, too steep grades, defective rails, improper signals, or too weak bridges, the people would speedily change the government!

Roads have grown almost imperceptibly from paths in the forest to highways. The automobile traffic was born almost overnight, and is increasing by leaps and bounds. Government is slow to highways as safe ribbons of traffic. It has yet taken little cognizance of the dangers which the road, safe for a horse and buggy, provides for a car.

It is inevitable that the United States construct a system of trunkline highways north and south, east and west, throughout the country. Such highways will not have dangerous curves, grades, bridges, embankments or crossings. As soon as State, county and town road builders see the difference in the death and injury rate on properly built and maintained highways, their own standards of road construction will inevitably respond. Until that day comes, it is impossible entirely to absolve government indifference from complicity in highway accidents.

WHERE YOUR HEART IS

Where your heart is, there are four thoughts also. Where your heart is, your pocketbook may generally be found open. Where your heart is you have nothing but an optimistic viewpoint.

The plain course for every loyal citizen, then, is to place his heart in his home community and work for it and boost for it with all of his energy and ability. You can't be loyal to home and still think that some other place is a better place to live.

You can't be loyal to the interests of your home town and have your heart elsewhere. You must be convinced in your own mind that the place where you live is the best place on earth to live else you will never be able to convince anyone else of the fact.

To be convinced of the superiority of the place you call home, you must know all of its good points and all of its disadvantages.

Only well informed citizens are good citizens and you can't honestly place yourself in that class until you get all of the knowledge that it is possible to acquire about your town. First get the facts. Then go out and tell others.

OXFORD MAN'S VIOLIN

Lorenzo B. Jones of Oxford has a rare old Italian violin which he thinks is a genuine Stradivarius which he picked up in Florida in 1905 where he had planned to locate. One cool morning at the market he stepped over to the stove to warm his hands and noticed the remains of a violin tied up with strings. The proprietor said he was going to use it for kindling wood, and Mr. Jones begged for it, saying he had a friend in Vermont who would be glad of the wood for repairing violins. The proprietor was glad to get rid of it. He said the violin had been lying around for years, being left by a queer old fellow who appeared there one day with the violin, down and out. People were glad to take him into their homes to hear him play.

One day he called and said he would like to leave the violin awhile as he was going to Mount Dorset. The proprietor put the violin on the shelf, but the man never came back for it. Some time later his body was found in the woods. No one knew of any relatives so he was buried there.

When Mr. Jones examined the violin he found that roaches had eaten off most of the label, but the date 1726 was still infact. The pieces were expressed to the friend with instruction to repair it if it was worth while. The friend was convinced that it was a genuine Strad. He put in a new neck and scroll. A man from Lynn who saw it offered $1000 for the violin but Mr. Jones would not sell.
He used it for ten years in orchestra work at Lakeland, Fla. A representative from a music house in Chicago who saw it was not sure it was a Strad but persuaded it of Italian make and over 200 years old.

Twentieth Amendment Unwise

Dick McLain editor of the Plymouth (N. H.) Record tells of his childhood days. It so well illustrates that of ninety per cent of the early lives of successful business men, we give it place.

"What is this terrible matter of Child Labor? Well, here is our experience. We worked in an industrial plant during the long vacations for several years before we were 14 years old. Ten hours a day for six days a week and the pay was 40 cents a day. Terrible, wasn't it? Not at all.

The work was well within our strength and the conditions good. Of course they were or we should not have been allowed to work, for, strange as it may seem to some of the super-tender hearted, our parents were normal people and like all normal parents they loved us children and guarded our physical and moral welfare jealously.

We finished our schooling before we were fifteen and went to work regularly and have been at it ever since. It was no hardship; we were proud of working. When we grew older we realized that during these years there was a mortgage being paid and our wages, small as they were, were a real help. We take pride in that knowledge, too.

Instead of being a harm, this experience gave to us one of the things most essential to success in life. We acquired the habit of industry. We learned what it is to do a full day's work, day after day, week after week, and month after month. We have seen otherwise, capable young men lose good positions for lack of just that.

Could government regulated boys and girls have a chance to learn that? Let us leave the matter of working boys and girls to their devoted parents with just enough state regulation to take care of any heartless exceptions who would exploit their children or cheat them out of their common school education."

A NUTTY STORY

A man who was an inmate of an asylum, believed he was an artist.

"Come, friends, and let me show you my latest paintings," he said to a party of visitors.

He led them to his room, and there he showed them a blank canvas.

"What does this picture represent?" the astonished visitors asked. "The Israelites crossing the Red Sea," the inmate said.

"But where is the sea?" they inquired. "Ah, it has receded," he replied.

"But where are the Israelites?" they asked.

"Why they have crossed over," said the inmate.

"And where are the Egyptians?" they further questioned.

"Ah, they have not arrived yet, said the inmate.

"THE EVERLASTING HELPER.—He shall call upon him and I will answer him; I will be with him in trouble; I will deliver him and honor him.—Psalms 91:15.

BATES—WEST PARIS

Mrs. Ella Warner Bates

At West Paris on the evening of Dec. 15 there passed out of earth's life a rare and beautiful woman. Mrs. Ella Warner Bates. Mrs. Bates was the daughter of Phineas B. and Lonna Warner, born, Jan. 15, 1851 at North Paris.

In her youth she was a teacher in the public schools.

On Nov. 13, 1879 at West Sumner she was married to Lewis C. Bates. After their marriage they went to New Haven to live where Mr. Bates was in business.

In 1900 they came back to West Paris to make their permanent home. Not only the home, the large circle of friends but the whole community is over shadowed in the passing of this good woman. The home life was ideal in its thoughtfulness, consideration, and love for the others.

While the home was happy in its own, yet the unselfish spirit opened wide the doors to welcome friends and "the stranger within the gates." The Bates home may well be called the ministers' home for many will remember the bow of welcome, the words of cheer at their hospitable fireside.

Mrs. Bates was a woman of high ideals always interested in the things which made for the uplift of the world.

She was the Pres. of the local W. C. T. U. and gave to this much of her time, strength and financial support.

She was one of the charter members of the Universalist Church. In its different departments of work she found the great joy of service. For many years she was the Pres. of the Good Will Society. For nearly twenty years she was the Sup't. of the Sunday School, holding this office and supervising the work almost to the very close of her life. In this work she was very efficient, always keeping up to date in methods and instructions. Under her guidance this Church School ranks among the best in the state. The missionary work of the greater Church has been sustained not alone by gifts of money but her loving interest.

Mrs. Bates will be remembered as the true friend. Her sympathy and generous aid has brought relief and comfort to many a burdened one. Young men and women will not forget her words of encouragement and the door to a higher education was opened for them by her willing hand. For such a brave, beautiful spirit death has no claim.

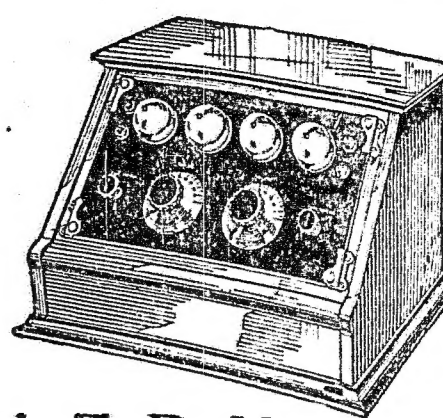

Beside the husband she leaves one son Vernon Warner Bates of New Haven Conn. and one grandson Theodore Lewis Bates of New York City.

Services were held on Thursday Dec. 18. A prayer service at the home followed by a memorial service at the Universalist church. The quartette from South Paris very impressively sang three familiar hymns. Friends came from far and near bringing their love offerings of beautiful flowers. The burial was in the family lot at West Paris.

An excited man caught the arm of the porter standing on the steps of a train. "My wife is on the train. Will you have time to get on the car and tell her goodbye?" "How long have you been married?" parried the porter.

The greatest fire-fighter of them all—for your roof

FIRE-FIGHTING men will tell you that their greatest ally is not so much a device to put fires out but rather a material that prevents fire. Such is Johns-Manville Asbestos Roofing—either in shingle or roll form.

It is not only fire-safe, but it is beautiful, weather-tight and permanent. Yet with all these fine roofing qualities, it is surprisingly low in cost—hardly more than ordinary rag-felt roofing.

While we recommend Johns-Manville Asbestos Shingles or Roll Roofing for practically every purpose, we also carry all grades of roofing so that we can meet your price requirements.

THOROUGHNESS

Without any attempt to organize lines into epigrams or say smart things with simple words, the story of many a failure can be written around one word, the lack of thoroughness. The incompleteness is the imperfect thing. The unfinished is the unwanted. This age will not accept a defeat in men or merchandise. The American people demand the classiest thing in its class and the man who lacks thoroughness will only produce that which belongs to the other class.

HUMAN OR HOG

E. K. Hall Vice-President in charge of the Personnel and Public Relations of the American Telephone and Telegraph Company, in discussing the human factor that enters into business and which cannot be handled as a mechanical proposition, says:

"What is the difference between an animal and a man? The difference is that man has everything and animal has plus the ability to record his experience and the experience of other men and profit by the same. A hog is a hog today, just as he was a thousand years ago. If a human being cannot profit by experience of others and help to make this world a little better place in which to live, he might as well be a hog.

"The vital factor in business is the human element. If the human factor is not mobilized for all it is worth, we cannot do a hundred per cent. job. This human factor has been too much overlooked in the past as we drove along building up the physical and mechanical end of industry."
